

LORNA BIUS

CLARKSTON, GA

JUNE 14, 2020

If we are talking about refugees, the state of Georgia is probably not the first location that comes to mind. However, today in our prayer time we are going to pray for Lorna Bius who serves in Clarkston, Georgia.

Clarkston is a city east of Atlanta, just outside of the 285 beltway, which has one of the highest concentrations of refugees in North America. They have come to America from many different parts of the world. Many of the refugees will stay in Georgia, while some will move on to other states.

Lorna ministers to these refugees by welcoming them and making sure they have food, a place to live and other basic needs. Along the way, she shares the gospel with them. Lorna also helps arrange for volunteer teams from around the country to come serve in Clarkston and minister to the refugees.

Our church is involved in Lorna's ministry because of our giving through the Cooperative Program. Our giving helps pay for her salary and provide funds, so she can meet the physical needs of the refugees around her.

Let's pray together and ask God to bless her ministry. Pray that the refugees will long remember her ministry of kindness and that the truth of the gospel will stay with them forever.

Thank you for your church's giving through the Cooperative Program.
