

JAMES & CARRIE LEWIS

EAST ASIA

SEPTEMBER 20, 2020

Growing up, *James Lewis' family served as missionaries in Africa with the International Mission Board (IMB). Today, he carries on as a second-generation IMB missionary with his wife, *Carrie, and their infant daughter. The young family lives and ministers in Asia, where religious temples built in the 800s still stand today — a testament to amazing architecture and craftsmanship, but also to the darkness of idolatry that sadly holds many in the region in its grip.

A new continent means new language learning opportunities, and the Lewis' have been diligently studying the local language in their home country. With their recently-developed language, James and Carrie already started communicating and forming deeper relationships with new friends. Now they are seeking God to direct them toward others in their community who have had little exposure to the gospel.

Our church's generous support to the Cooperative Program enables IMB missionaries, from long-standing veterans to brand-new short-termers, to remain committed to their calling and share the good news of Jesus Christ with lost and hurting people around the world every day. Please pray that God will continue to raise up a new generation of young people who desire to serve Him and others in the least-reached places of the globe. Lift up James and Carrie as they develop relationships with their Asian neighbors and that many will come to know and worship the true God of the Bible.

Names have been changed for security purposes.*

Thank you for your church's giving through the Cooperative Program.

JAMES & CARRIE LEWIS

EAST ASIA

SEPTEMBER 20, 2020

Growing up, *James Lewis' family served as missionaries in Africa with the International Mission Board (IMB). Today, he carries on as a second-generation IMB missionary with his wife, *Carrie, and their infant daughter. The young family lives and ministers in Asia, where religious temples built in the 800s still stand today — a testament to amazing architecture and craftsmanship, but also to the darkness of idolatry that sadly holds many in the region in its grip.

A new continent means new language learning opportunities, and the Lewis' have been diligently studying the local language in their home country. With their recently-developed language, James and Carrie already started communicating and forming deeper relationships with new friends. Now they are seeking God to direct them toward others in their community who have had little exposure to the gospel.

Our church's generous support to the Cooperative Program enables IMB missionaries, from long-standing veterans to brand-new short-termers, to remain committed to their calling and share the good news of Jesus Christ with lost and hurting people around the world every day. Please pray that God will continue to raise up a new generation of young people who desire to serve Him and others in the least-reached places of the globe. Lift up James and Carrie as they develop relationships with their Asian neighbors and that many will come to know and worship the true God of the Bible.

Names have been changed for security purposes.*

Thank you for your church's giving through the Cooperative Program.