

Mike Reeve

McLeansville, N.C.

State Highlight

August 11, 2019

Today we're going to pray for Mike Reeve, one of our church planters our church supports through our Cooperative Program giving.

Right now the Proximity Church he's starting is meeting in a school building in McLeansville. You might think from the name it's a small town, and it is in many ways.

Stand in the school yard and you'll think you're in a rural area, with farm land and forest around. But look around like a missionary for a moment: Right down the road, a new housing development is under construction. Already there are 900 new homes — and 3,000 more on the drawing boards!

This is not a rural area for long — this is Greensboro's sprawl coming this way.

That's why Mike Reeve is full of hope that his new church will grow in coming years, because thousands of people are headed his way. Some of the new people, of course, are from other North Carolina towns, but many are from New York, New England and Pennsylvania.

Every time these folks leave home, Mike wants them to see his church first and eventually to hear about his Savior, as well.

Let's pray for Mike Reeve and his team as they start this new church, to reach new people in a new area — with the old, old story of the gospel!

Thank you for your church's giving through the Cooperative Program.
