

Assimilation is an important process to help people connect to God as well as other people within your church. Research reveals several key observations when assimilation is an intentional process.

- Churches appear to be healthier and are experiencing growth.
- Churches have higher rates of baptisms.
- Group growth is consistent with church growth.
- People commit to serving in the church.
- People commit to serving on mission outside the church.
- Relationships are formed.

Below is a free e-book for you to download that was produced by Church Community Builders. The purpose of this e-book is for you to evaluate your process and contextual these ideas to your church.

https://cdn2.hubspot.net/hubfs/857538/CCB/\_docs/eBooks/ebook-assimilationengine.pdf

For more information on assimilation in your context, please contact Rick Hughes, rhughes@ncbaptist.org.